To Whom it May Concern,

Please allow me to share with you how I know Karina Olsen, why she is of impeccable character, and how she will be a tremendous asset to your school.

I look for the best in my staff and Karina is exactly that. For 5 summers (soon to be 6), Karina has worked her way up in leadership positions, from a cabin counselor, to the head of our Counselor in Training program and finally as the Assistant Director. In this time, I have observed Karina not only become an excellent role model to young woman, but also a skilled educator and confident leader. Camp Newfound is an overnight camp where children are away from home anywhere from 3 weeks to 7 weeks at a time. Karina spends her summers mentoring and educating both campers and staff members. As an employee, Karina has exceeded my expectations on every level.

Undoubtedly, Karina will be a top teacher within your school. Not only does she have a strong work ethic, but she is also a pleasure to work with! Always prepared, Karina is trustworthy, accountable and reliable. She is creative with her lesson plans and a natural when it comes to working with others (both children and adults). Some of Karina's greatest attributes are her ability to compassionately connect with people of all walks of life, incredible patience, her innate desire to give and her high ethical standards. Karina takes pride in upholding a standard of excellence in all her work and play. She consistently puts her best foot forward and truly is a phenomenal teacher, mentor and friend. Perhaps what stands out most to me about Karina is that she genuinely seeks ways to grow and better herself and those around her. I know that you will appreciate her initiative in getting things done and her ability to set the bar high. Karina is five-star, top-notch, the best of the best.

Karina has already woven personal, social, and intellectual development into her leadership style. Spending several years as the Assistant Director at Newfound, she has experience in working with the "whole man", meaning not only the academic development of others, but also the social and character development. As a school that celebrates intelligence and integrity in its students and faculty, you have a champion in Karina and I hope you take this opportunity to share your commitments with her. She will win you over with her charming nature, compassion toward others, professional demeanor and her desire to contribute to the world as a strong educated woman.

Warmly,
Mary Villoch
